

RELOCATIONS > JOURNAL

CALL FOR PAPERS

RESILIENCE & DISASTER: THE GLOBAL SOUTH DURING COVID-19

Re:Locations - Journal of the Asia-Pacific World is hosting a virtual symposium series in November that explores the intersection of the COVID-19 pandemic and other crises in the Global South. The pandemic has exacerbated existing inequalities; strengthened networks of solidarity; birthed new crises; devastated economies, transformed politics at local, national, and international levels; and, more. We invite conversation and critical engagement with cross-disciplinary, cross-national, and cross-cultural dialogues.

To submit a proposal, click here.

EXTENDED DEADLINE:
OCTOBER 9, 2020

Based out of the
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO,

Re:Locations is a peer-reviewed journal that publishes critical and progressive research. Selected presenters will have the opportunity to publish their research in the Re:Locations Journal.

TO VIEW THE FULL CALL FOR PAPERS, VISIT:

<http://relocationsjournal.sa.utoronto.ca/symposium-2020/>

Proudly supported by

